

Bag 59 Out
Of 64 Zeros
Before U. S.
Carrier Sank

Philadelphia, Jan. 12 (AP)—Gunners aboard the aircraft carrier Hornet shot down "approximately 59 of the 64 Japanese planes" that attacked her before the order was given to abandon ship, members of her crew said here today.

Two shattered enemy planes crashed on her decks, the seamen said in statements released by the Fourth Naval District. One exploded on the flight deck near the bridge, "starting a furious fire," and the other dived under the flight deck into a row of officers' staterooms, its controls shot away as it attempted to swerve after launching a torpedo.

The Hornet was identified by the Navy yesterday as the carrier previously announced as lost in the battle of the Santa Cruz Islands last October 26.

HEROIC CREW
The story of her fighting death was told by Gunner's Mate Alvin Grahn, of Roseau, Minn., and fellow crewmen now in this Navy Yard base. The attacking planes came in two waves, Grahn said, while the Hornet's attack planes and other units of a U.S. task force were defeating a Jap force northeast of Guadalcanal.

Our guns were all manned and ready," Grahn related. "It was just like the pause before a football game when everyone is listening for the referee's whistle for the kickoff. And suddenly a shout: 'Here they come, commence firing.'"

"Some of us had never fired at enemy planes and the boys were making bets of the chances of getting a crack at dive bombers and torpedo planes. Within seven or eight minutes, we had shot down 50 of the 54 which came over in the first attack."

The first wave, however, scored repeated hits and other vessels in the American force ranged alongside her with fire hoses going to help put out the fires.

SECOND ATTACK
Then the second combined dive bomber-torpedo plane attack began, Grahn related.

"I counted six torpedo planes and four dive bombers and we shot down all the torpedo planes and one bomber got away," he added.

"The shooting was so thick and fast," the Fourth Naval District said, "that not all the Hornet's men could keep track of it as well as Grahn."

Clifford V. Butterfield, 22, gunner's mate from Idaho Falls, Idaho, said:

"The enemy came in all around and anti-aircraft shells filled the air with smoke. We let 'em have it and they let us have it. But so many things happened I couldn't say how many we got in the first few minutes. It was like shooting wild geese."

Pratt Jacobs, 22, aviation metallsmith from Camden, S. C., told this story of the first attack:

"The first dive bomber missed us with his load and I watched him drop his bombs before I ducked for cover. The second dropped a demolition bomb that hit the deck 20 feet from me. The concussion threw me up in the air against a bulkhead."

A MESS OF DOUGH

Joe Lassiter, 19, aviation machinist's mate of Asheville, N. C., saw both enemy planes crash aboard the 20,000-ton carrier and said the enemy's most effective hits were scored during the second attack.

"The abandon ship order came after that," Lassiter said. "Injured crew members already had been transferred to other vessels, and the crew still aboard cut loose lifeboats and swarmed overboard into them."

The Hornet's bakers, Frederick Plath of McAllen, Tex., and Joseph Laino, of Brooklyn, said "we had 10,000 doughnuts and 5,000 mince pies cooked and ready to serve to the men during any lull in the battle, but there just wasn't any lull."

The heat of the fires reached a quantity of dough ready to be baked, Laino said, and "it rose all over the floor a foot deep. I'm glad I couldn't stay around to clean up that mess."

Water Company Is Available To Town On Exchange Plan; Owner Asks Revenue Bonds

John H. Ware, Jr., Philadelphia, majority stockholder of the Gettysburg Water company, told Gettysburg borough councilmen at a special session Monday evening that he is willing to exchange his property here for revenue bonds to be issued by a borough authority.

His plan, he said, would permit the borough to acquire the property in from 15 to 40 years, would involve no financial outlay to the town, that present water rates would be retained during the period of acquisition and that it may even result in a small saving to local consumers during that time.

Mr. Ware's declaration that the company "is not for sale for cash" apparently eliminated the practicability of the other route toward municipal ownership which was outlined to council Monday evening by a representative of a utility bond house interested in buying the entire bond issue after a price has been negotiated with Mr. Ware.

"Definite Appeal"

Councilmen took no action in the matter but made no attempt to conceal their interest in the utility head's plan. As Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer said before adjournment, "Mr. Ware's plan has a definite appeal." Formally President H. M. Oyler referred the whole proposition back to the Utility and Finance committees for further study.

Mr. Ware told councilmen Monday evening that he acquired the local water company in mid-November, 1942, and explained that he owns 95 per cent of the stock of the North-eastern Water and Electric Service company which owns all of the stock of the local company. He has been a utility plant operator since 1906 and for some time has been the largest water company operator in Pennsylvania, he said. He told councilmen he believes recent acquisitions make him the largest water works operator in the United States.

His plan, outlined orally and informally, will be submitted in writing to borough officials next week, Mr. Ware promised.

Outline of Plan

The plan the water company head presented to council briefly was this:

Mr. Ware said he will exchange his property here for bonds issued against the anticipated revenue from the local water system. The bonds will be tax-exempt and will be issued for a 40-year term but will be callable under a plan by which the entire issue may be retired in 15 years.

The amount of the bond issue will be determined entirely by an engineers' survey to estimate available income for future operations. The value of the water company property here is of no direct importance to the proceedings, it was explained. Figures presented Monday evening showed the local company's gross receipts last year were about $51,000.

On the basis of the engineers' estimate of future income, the bond issue will be capitalized on the basis of 80 per cent of the gross receipts. The amount of the issue will be governed by the rate of interest decided upon mutually.

"Freeze" Present Rates

The estimate of the future income will be based upon a "freezing" of present water rates although water users may benefit by prompt payment discounts on their water bills or through other means devised by the borough authority which will be set up to handle the water company transaction.

Mr. Ware said he will retain management of the local company until the expiration of his contract which will be accomplished.

Change Tire Inspection Dates

Washington, Jan. 12 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration modified today its periodic tire inspection program by postponing the January 31 deadline for the first inspection, and providing for less frequent examinations.

The action was taken, OPA said, to minimize public inconvenience and to smooth out occasional work peaks for the inspectors.

A stagger system was put into effect so that there will be three different deadlines for the first inspection.

Under the revised program, all holders of basic gasoline ration A coupons will have until the end of March for their first tire inspection, and subsequent inspections will be once in each six months, instead of the former requirement of once every four months.

Motorists with B or C supplementary books or bulk coupons for fleets will be required to get their first inspections by the end of February. After that, inspections for B bookholders will be once in every four months, and for C bookholders and bulk coupon holders once every three months. Formerly the schedule called for examinations of cars with B and C rations once in two months.

CONGREGATION MEETING HELD AT ST. JAMES

At the annual congregational meeting held at St. James Lutheran church Monday evening announcement was made that the church debt of $3,200 had been paid in full during the last year, making the church free from debt for the first time since it was destroyed by fire in 1928. The present church building is the second to be erected by the present congregation.

A good attendance marked the meeting which was presided over by the Rev. R. R. Gresh, pastor, as chairman. Norman W. Storrick served as secretary. Following the singing of "The Church's One Foundation," prayer was offered by the Rev. Ralph W. Baker.

In the financial report, which was given by Charles J. Toot, it was also revealed that the apportioned benevolence of $4,243 for the support of the benevolent causes of the Central Pennsylvania Synod and the United Lutheran Church in America was met in full. All current expenses were reported as paid.

Increase Salary

It was voted to increase the pastor's salary $300 per year.

Reports of the auxiliaries of the church all indicated successful programs during the last year.

The following church officers were elected: Trustee, J. P. Oyler; elders, Norman W. Storrick and Roy W. Wentz; deacons, Percy S. Miller, Roy A. Weaver, John W. Hewitt and C. Leslie Fair.

The above officers will be installed at the morning service next Sunday. During the past year hymnals were purchased and the Common Service introduced. Automatic tower equipment for the playing of chimes in the church tower at regular intervals was installed. The pastor was presented a clergy cloak and biretta at Christmas.

Install Windows

Two windows, one in memory of Dr. Earl J. Bowman, former pastor of the church, and the other in honor of Dr. H. D. Hoover and Dr. J. B. Baker, were placed in the new Lutheran Theological seminary chapel last year.

The Rev. Mr. Gresh's report for the year follows: Calls made, 1,028; weddings, 13; funerals, 25; baptisms, 32; new members, 107, and members in the armed forces, 83.

Action was taken authorizing the pastor to appoint a committee of three to communicate with the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Lutheran Church in America to secure an assignment for a parish or parishes abroad as a special missionary project for the church to support during the coming year.

BOARD ADOPTS WAR MEASURE POLICY FOR H.S.

In order to cooperate with the policy of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, the Gettysburg school board adopted a resolution providing for the granting of diplomas to pupils inducted into the armed forces and recommending the entrance to college for other students before actual completion of the requirements for graduation.

Another resolution, also approved by a unanimous roll call vote at the board's meeting Monday evening in the Gettysburg high school building, provides for the addition of a course in elementary aeronautics to the high school curriculum.

Both resolutions were proposed to the directors by Prof. Lloyd C. Kee-fauver, superintendent of the Gettysburg schools.

Two Resolutions

The resolutions follow: "Resolved that diplomas be granted in accordance with the provisions as set forth in the letter of December 23, 1942, from the state superintendent and that pupils be recommended for entrance to college with a 'B' average in accordance with the provisions in the same letter and when requested in writing by the parent or guardian."

"Resolved that the course of study be changed so as to permit pupils to elect elementary aeronautics to the equivalent of one-half credit in place of equal credit in social studies or commercial studies as now required in the general or commercial curriculums and as an elective in any other curriculum."

Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas' letter outlined the state's policy as follows:

"A student inducted into any branch of the armed forces of the United States prior to graduation from a secondary school may be graduated as follows:

Draft or Enlistments
"1. The discontinuance from school shall be by virtue of induction into the armed forces either by enlistment or through operation of the Selective Service act."

"2. The student at the time of induction shall be regularly enrolled in the secondary school from which he will be graduated, and his transfer from school to service shall be immediate."

"3. The student at the time of induction shall have completed at least all but the last half year of a standard course of study."

Relentless Reds Smash Germans Back 20 Miles; Cossacks Take Villages

By ROGER D. GREENE

Associated Press War Editor

Soviet dispatches declared today that wavering German troops had retreated another 20 miles on the eastern approaches to Rostov, while on the lower Don front the Nazi high command was reported throwing masses of tank-led infantry into a desperate new attempt to halt the Red Armies.

Once again, a series of brilliant Russian strokes overshadowed the news from other fronts in the global war. There were Allied bombing attacks on the Italian port of Naples and on Germany's war foundries in the Ruhr.

Admit Red Strength

Italian headquarters listed nearly 100 killed and wounded in the raid on Naples.

Hitler's high command acknowledged that the Russians were keeping up the offensive in three major sectors, reporting tersely:

"Between the Caucasus and the Don, in the area of Stalingrad and in the Don area, the Russians again attacked in the same focal points as before with strong forces."

Along with this gloom forecast, a Rome broadcast quoted the German Foreign office publication, Dienst Aus Deutschland, as declaring:

"The most rigid reserve must be maintained regarding the fighting in Russia, as the Russians are displaying their greatest strength now."

Threaten Oil Fields

Soviet dispatches said the drive which has carried Russia's Caucasus Armies 80 miles from recaptured Mozdok in nine days had put Red Army forces in a position to sweep back to the headwaters of the Kuban river and threaten recapture of the German-held Maikop oil fields.

A late bulletin from Moscow said the Red Army, led by Cossacks slashing their way triumphantly back into their homeland, had already driven the Germans back into the Kuban river region between the towering Caucasus mountains and the river Don.

TRAIN YOUTH FOR WAR WORK SAYS SPEAKER

The United States' War Manpower commission is training the youth of the south-central section of Pennsylvania at Lancaster to become skilled war workers.

Details of the operation of the government's center were explained by Raymond B. Nell, WMC representative and director of the work at Lancaster, at the weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary club in the YWCA building Monday evening.

The two shops at Lancaster, Mr. Nell said, are teaching more than 100 women and a large number of men the skills of aviation radio, airplane sheet metal work, light riveting and spot welding.

Woman Inspector
He disclosed that the first and only woman inspector accepted by the Navy for radio work in aviation was trained at the Lancaster center.

The youths who enroll are under a discipline similar to that of the Army, Mr. Nell explained. He said that since the shops were opened last October about twenty Adams countians had been enrolled.

The speaker said that the purpose of the school—in addition to providing workers for war industries—is "to train youth to do things well with their hands." He touched briefly on the trend in American education that has discouraged the training of skilled craftsmen.

Local Graduate

Mr. Nell is a graduate in the class of 1912 at Gettysburg college. His wife is the former Miss Daisy Irene Wentz, of Gettysburg.

The Soroptimist, Lions and Rotary clubs will meet together next Monday evening at 6:15 in the Hotel Gettysburg to hear a lecture on "Agricultural Chemistry and the War." The speaker will be Larry F. Livingston, a representative of the DuPont company, Wilmington, Delaware.

Four Quarantined
For Scarlet Fever

Four girls who have contracted scarlet fever were quarantined this morning by William I. Shields, Adams county health officer.

Mary C. 13, and Jean, 9, students at the Franklin Township Consolidated school, and Betty, 3, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shultz, Ortanna R. 2, have been quarantined. There are 10 other children in the family.

Also quarantined was Mildred Price, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price, Butler township. She is a student at the Arendtsville vocational high school.

Red Star, the Russian Army newspaper, said the Cossacks had returned to their devastated villages and towns in the Kuban area after the Caucasian provinces of North Ossetia and Kabardino-Bakaria had been wrested back from the Nazi invaders.

Divisions in Danger

Driving down across the middle Don steppes from the north, the nearest Soviet column was reported less than 100 miles from Rostov. Another Red army, striking from the east, was only 60 miles from the great German stronghold, whose fall would cut off the land "escape route" of hundreds of thousands of Axis soldiers.

The new 20-mile German withdrawal east of Rostov came as Soviet troops, pushing down the railroad from Stalingrad to the Black sea, captured the town of Kublerle after an advance from Zimovnikl.

Other Red army columns were reported to have engulfed town after town in a sweep extending 21 miles north from Kublerle, and a flanking drive to Vestoly, 30 miles south of Zimovnikl, straightened out the front in that sector.

Kill Troops; Take Trains

In the central Caucasus, dispatches reported a dramatic coup by Russian soldiers who stormed into the health spa at Mineralnye Vodi, about midway along the Rostov-Batou railroad, and found two trainloads of German troops, with munitions, waiting to move toward the front.

Soviet headquarters wrote this brief epitaph for the surprised Nazis:

"Red army men wiped out the enemy soldiers and captured the train."

PRODUCTION IS WORRYING TOJO AND PARTNERS

By GLENN BABB

New evidence comes from Tokyo that General Tojo and his colleagues are struggling against the soul-chilling realization that Japan is losing the battle of production, a contest in which the fanatical fighting code of the Samurai of little avail. Once more they have invoked the awful prestige of the emperor in an appeal to war workers to increase output. The Tokyo radio announces that within a few days aides-de-camp invested with special powers will begin a series of tours of the chief industrial areas to make the workers feel that the Son of Heaven is watching them.

Plays to Goddess

Now this may strike Americans as absurd, but it has a serious bearing on the course of the war. Invocation of the imperial presence is something not undertaken lightly by a Japanese government, and this is the fourth time within a few weeks that the people have been given assurance of the emperor's concern over the way the war is going. Early in December Hirohito made a solemn pilgrimage to the Sun Goddess shrine at Ise to pray for her aid. A few days later he received in audience 380 leaders of the empire's industry and economic interests. Only last week he watched a parade of war workers during the annual New Year imperial military review.

Today's announcement very likely is the high command's reaction to President Roosevelt's message to Congress last Thursday, especially those crushing figures of 1942 war production, probably tenfold Japan's capacity in the most vital categories. Take for example the item of ships. We launched 8,000,000 tons in 1942 and are just getting into the stride that will produce double that tremendous tonnage in 1943. Now Japan needs ships as badly as we do, for without them she can not hope to hold the riches of the Indies for which she took the gamble of war against the United States. But with her shipyards mobilized to the utmost she can not hope to produce in a year more than one-tenth the American output for last year and by the end of this year the proportion will be nearer 20 to 1.

70-Hour Week

Probably the Japanese masses are not permitted to know the truth about American production. Enough for them to know that the emperor their grimy factories, where the calls on them for greater effort in work week already is around 70 hours. But their leaders know all about those tremendous figures recited by the President and they probably are convinced by now of their truth.

When Mr. Roosevelt set American's production goals a year ago the Japanese joined the Axis chorus of jibes against such fantastic figures. It is not that the Tokyo militarists underestimated the industrial potential of the United States; they had spent years in studying it and they were fully aware of the fact, to take one example, that the steel producing capacity of Japan was less than a tenth of America's.

But they hoped, and gambled on that hope, that the soft, loose American democracy never would be able to mobilize its full productive capacity for war or that even if that were accomplished that something would occur to soften our resolve before the fruits of that capacity could be brought to bear directly on the Pacific battlefronts. By now they have the testimony of such witnesses as Admiral Nomura, who was here until last June, that the dreaded miracle is happening.

New Ruling Helps County Sawmills

The War Production Board at Washington has announced, according to an Associated Press dispatch, the granting of a high priority rating—A-A-2-X—under which loggers and sawmills may obtain operating supplies and materials for maintenance and repair.

WPB said its action followed widespread complaint within the industry because of difficulty in getting operating and maintenance supplies into the forests. The new order places independent loggers and small sawmills on an equal footing with their larger competitors by applying a blanket rating for the industry.

More than a score of sawmills operating in this county will be affected by the new order.

Young Abductor Is Given 5 To 10 Years

Pepper Pomple, 19, Toledo, who posed as an OPA agent, robbed a Stoyestown service station operator, abducted him and then left him in Littlestown on December 18, was sentenced Monday at Somerset to from five to 10 years in prison on a robbery charge.

Pomple was nabbed in Baltimore a few days after he robbed Charles Stutzman, Stoyestown, of $71 and 14 gallons of gasoline. Stutzman told police here and later at Somerset that Pomple posed as an OPA agent who was checking on gasoline sales. He placed Stutzman under "arrest" and took him to Littlestown enroute to Baltimore and Washington. He left Stutzman on a street corner in Littlestown and drove away in a car it was later shown had been stolen in Ohio.

He was returned to Somerset county for trial.

SELLS 43-ACRE FARM

when the last of the revenue bonds are retired. The management will be subject to strong powers over the budget and the supervising engineer which will be vested in the borough authority.

The borough authority will be guaranteed, annually, 10 per cent of the gross receipts with Mr. Ware to receive the next 10 per cent for its management. Any profits above the 20 per cent will go to the treasury of the borough authority.

A substantial portion of the revenue bonds which the borough authority will issue will be pledged by Mr. Ware to guarantee fulfillment of his contract.

"This plan is working to the satisfaction of all concerned in the towns and cities in Pennsylvania where it has been placed in operation," Mr. Ware told council. He read balance sheets on operations of the water companies at Shenandoah, Freeland and Lehigh where the plan is in operation, he said.

Mr. Ware re-stated his decision that the local company is not for sale for cash and said that the only way the town might secure the property on that basis would be by a condemnation proceeding under the Act of 1874. He added that he knows of no instance in which such a proceeding was carried to completion.

The water company owner invited questions from the council and answered a number of queries from E. V. Bulleit, Esq., the borough solicitor, as well as several members of council.

When the special meeting of council convened Stanley W. Lang, representative of the bonding house of Barcus, Kindred and company of Chicago, Austin and Des Moines, outlined to council a plan leading toward municipal ownership that he had discussed last week with members of the utility and finance committees of council.

He presented a typed proposal with all spaces for figures left blank which was read to council by Borough Secretary Wilmer Dracha. Mr. Lang submitted letters of financial responsibility for his firm from Chicago banks.

Lang's proposal set forth a plan under which the local water company would be appraised by consulting engineers; financial statements on the company would be prepared by accountants and a nationally recognized firm of municipal bond attorneys would be retained. A borough authority would be established and would negotiate with the present water company ownership for a purchase price. Preliminary costs for the proceedings would be paid by Lang's company in consideration for an option to buy the bond issue to be floated against the local property and to be paid off from earnings of the water system.

Would Reduce Costs

If the bond issue was approved, the borough authority would reimburse the bonding company for "out of pocket" expenses but if a price would not be agreed upon by the borough authority would not be liable for any of the preliminary expenses.

Details of the plan were outlined by Mr. Lang in response to questions from Mr. Bulleit. Under municipal ownership, Lang pointed out, the operating costs of the company would be reduced by reason of the fact that there would be no taxes to pay and depreciation would be handled on a different basis. He pointed out that operating expenses would depend largely upon the efficiency of the operation of the water works. A trustee would be named and with a consulting engineer would be charged with safeguarding the interests of the municipality and the bond holders, he said.

$51,000 Revenue

Mr. Lang showed council figures on the Gettysburg Water company which he had secured from Public Utility Commission files at Harrisburg revealing gross income last year of over $51,000 and total operating expenses of $32,000.

President Oyer presided Monday evening with Councilmen George D. March, Ray M. Hoffman, Harry J. Troxell, Wilbur J. Stallsmith and Joseph D. Kendeheart in attendance. Burgess Pfeffer, Mr. Bulleit, Secretary Dracha, Treasurer John H. Bashore and LeRoy H. Winebrenner, the borough engineer, also were present.

ODT EXAMINER HERE THURSDAY

Samuel L. King, Jr., district examiner for the Office of Defense Transportation, will be at the court house Thursday to hear appeals and render assistance to farmers and commercial vehicle operators on gasoline rationing.

It is said that some operators do not have sufficient gasoline to operate and efforts are being made to straighten out this situation. This is the reason for Mr. King's visit to Gettysburg. He will be here one day.

As the OPA ration boards will grant no more temporary gasoline rations after January 31, it is necessary that all commercial vehicle operators who have need for the assistance of the field examiner call on Mr. King, on the above date. Those who are unable to explain their particular problems in person will have to communicate by mail with the district office at Hagerstown.

ASKS NETWORK OF HIGHWAYS AS POST-WAR WORK

Washington, Jan. 12 (AP)—A gigantic network of superhighways and landing fields, located so that armed forces could be rushed to any coastal point on short notice is proposed by Representative Wene (D.-N. J.) to cushion post-war unemployment.

He introduced a bill (HR 892) similar to one that died in the 77th Congress, which envisaged an outlay of $10,000,000,000 with these objectives:

1—Defense of the nation in time of threatened invasion.

2—Absorption of the unemployed on this public project when the war ends.

3—Expansion of the highway systems and airport facilities to handle anticipated increases in flow in the peacetime years.

After-War Work

Wene said the work should be planned and organized now so that it would be ready for operation at the close of the war.

The program would eliminate "all need of dole, relief or charity to any able-bodied citizen," the author declared, and provide the nation with the "greatest transportation system ever built."

A Federal commission would be established to build the network which would have these main routes:

Portland, Maine, west to Boston, New York, Trenton, New Jersey, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, through West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Colorado, Utah and Nevada with the terminus at San Francisco.

Between Woodbridge and New Brunswick, New Jersey, southwest to Atlantic City and Cape May, New Jersey.

Philadelphia southwest to Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Virginia, and through the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, to San Diego and Los Angeles.

Other Highways

Boston to Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, Erie, Cleveland and Toledo, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul, through North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Seattle and Portland and south to San Francisco.

Washington southwesterly through Tennessee and Arkansas and joining the southern route in Texas.

Buffalo southeasterly to Harrisburg and Philadelphia and thence to the Jersey coast at Atlantic City. A system of toll charges would be imposed to help amortize the bond issues.

No advertising signs would be permitted along the so-called "superhighways." Grades and curves would be reduced to a minimum. Emergency airplane landing fields would be built along the system at frequent intervals where the terrain permitted.

CORN PRICES ARE FROZEN

Washington, Jan. 12 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration today froze corn prices on all exchanges and in every cash and local market over the country, generally at the highest levels at which sales were made yesterday.

The action, designed to halt further sharp advances in the price of corn, previously uncontrolled at all levels of distribution, was taken upon instructions from Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes, and was approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, the announcement said.

The price ceilings were established by means of a temporary 60-day freeze regulation, effective immediately. Prices of corn futures contracts and prices for cash corn in the recognized cash markets were frozen at the highest level of prices prevailing during the period January 8-12. In most instances, these highs were reached yesterday.

Corn prices at the small local markets were frozen at the highest level of prices prevailing yesterday.

FLYING FORTS LAMBAST AXIS BASE IN DESERT

By WES GALLAGHER

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Jan. 12 (AP)—Flying Fortresses, in their first full raid into Tripolitania, struck a heavy blow at Marshal Rommel's forces by battering the fort at Ghadames, while French troops in Tunisia drove the Germans out of a mountain pass 23 miles south of Pont du Fahs and captured at least 180 prisoners.

Ghadames is deep in the desert, 450 miles south of Tunis, at the juncture of the frontiers of Tunisia, Algeria and Tripolitania.

A spokesman for the French high command said French troops had attacked north of Jebel Boudabous, northwest of the Moslem city of Kairouan, which is 35 miles inland from the eastern Tunisian port of Sousse.

Surround Enemy

Germans and Italians in the valley there were surrounded, the spokesman said, and fighting is continuing.

Land fighting on the northern sector of the Tunisian front was confined to patrol activity.

There were active engagements between French and Axis troops in the mountain chain running south of Pont du Fahs, 30 miles southwest of Tunis and at its southern flank of the Medjed-el-Bab front.

"Our troops made quite substantial gains at Karachouan, south of Pont du Fahs," the French spokesman said.

Further south the French reported beating off a German attack and destroying three tanks.

The Flying Fortresses took a hand in the Libyan battle with their raid on the German and Italian force at Ghadames, which was reported left enveloped in smoke after a high level bombing.

Another raid by Flying Fortresses near Gabes also was reported, and bombs were said to have hit a railroad bridge.

Noel Flynn; financial secretary, Mrs. Bernard Hemler; orator, Mrs. Elizabeth Redding; marshal, Miss Mary Little; guard, Mrs. Rebecca Martin; trustees, Mrs. Joseph Butt, Miss Rose Topper and Mrs. Joseph Smith.

NAVY REVEALS NAMES OF LOST U.S. WARSHIPS

By JOHN H. WIGGINS

Washington, Jan. 12 (AP)—With military security no longer requiring secrecy, the Navy publicly added to its list of sunken vessels today the names of the aircraft carrier Hornet and 10 other warships—all previously announced as lost but not identified at the time.

The 20,000-ton Hornet, commissioned only a year before its death on October 26, went to the bottom of the south Pacific off the Santa Cruz Islands after a battle that inflicted heavy damage on two Japanese carriers and bomb and torpedo hits on an enemy battleship and five cruisers.

Other Ships Sunk

The other United States warships, sunk in the furious November battles that broke the heaviest Nipponese attempts to recapture Guadalcanal, were identified as the 9,050-ton cruiser Northampton; 6,000-ton cruiser Juneau; 6,000-ton cruiser Atlanta; and the destroyers, Monsen, Cushing, Benham, Preston, Walke, Barton and Laffey.

The Navy communicates on the engagements in which these vessels and another previously identified destroyer were lost, showed, however, that a total of 18 Japanese warships were damaged and 37 sunk, comprising two battleships, eight cruisers, 10 destroyers and 15 transports.

Few Casualties

The Navy announced last October 26 that a carrier was severely damaged after two attacks by Japanese bomber and torpedo planes. Five days later the vessel was declared lost but the casualties among its personnel, normally 2,170, were reported few.

With the carrier burning fiercely, the order was given to abandon ship. Other American warships delivered the final blows to the carrier when it found that she had been damaged beyond repair.

High School Athletic Program Saved From "Complete Collapse" By OPA Rule

PLAYERS MAY RIDE IN CARS OF OFFICIALS

Harrisburg, Jan. 12 (AP)—Pennsylvania's high school athletic program was viewed today as saved "from complete collapse" by an OPA ruling granting some leeway in transporting athletes to contests.

Edmund Wicht, secretary of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association, made the statement yesterday after the OPA ruled "where the principal or any other school officer is required as part of his duties to attend the games, that shall be considered occupational driving."

Wicht said he believed the OPA ruling, made by the Philadelphia office, meant certified officials can transport team members to games. He said the faculty athletic director and the faculty scorer probably would come under the ruling.

Ride With Officers
Previously, in Washington an OPA spokesman had said high school coaches and school officials may use their automobiles to take team members to contests.

The PIAA sought a ruling after it had first appeared the pleasure driving ban might hinder athletic programs.

"This ruling," commented Wicht, "has saved the interscholastic athletic program from a complete collapse and in view of that fact the PIAA will request all schools to confine transportation of athletes to a minimum number and, by all means, exclude spectators from accompanying school officials to all games."

In the past, he added, most schools transported a 10-man varsity team, some reserves and in some cases members of girls' team but now may be restricted to transportation of the varsity.

BULLET QUINT FACES NAVY 5

Still not completely satisfied with the performance of the Gettysburg college cage team, Coach "Hen" Bream announced today that there will likely be several changes in the lineup when the Bullets square off against Navy at Annapolis Wednesday.

Even though Gettysburg has emerged the victor in both of the games played thus far this season, Bream feels that his starting combine is not playing up to par and a few needed switches will aid the defense.

The only definite change so far will see Gene Haas, 6-foot, 2-inch guard replacing George Dracha at one of the backcourt posts. Other positions are wide open, and the only players who are sure of their positions at this point are Don Freedman, sophomore guard from Harrisburg, and Vince Pamell, sharpshooter from Hazelton.

This week the Orange and Blue clad warriors have been drilling in an attempt to speed up their offense and improve their shooting, fouls in particular. In the game with Lebanon Valley the Bullets were successful in sinking only 10 out of 20 free tosses, and the first game of the season was almost as bad.

Navy Boasts Stars
When the Bullets meet the Mid-dies they will face two high scoring forwards in Dick Rahn, former Le-high star, and Bull Patrick, tall center, who is leading the team in scoring to date. Another player the Battlefields will have their eyes on will be Dick Cameron, veteran guard and playmaker of the Navy team.

Two freshmen who have shown up well in games to date are Cy Davis, of Harrisburg, and Dave Plank of Gettysburg. These two players have shown that they have the ability to play college ball, and with a little more experience they will see lots of action later in the season.

The Swedish-born population of the United States has decreased from 585,250 in 1930 to 445,070 in 1940.

Bullet Guard

Superb defensive play in Gettysburg college's encounter with Lebanon Valley has won Gene Haas a starting position at guard on the Bullet five. Haas, a former Han-over high star, will see action against Navy at Annapolis Wednesday.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Jan. 12 (AP)—George Corcoran, the Greensboro, North Carolina, golf pro, suggests that golf clubs should be classified as health clubs rather than as amusement centers now that easterners aren't allowed to use gas for amusement. . . . George figures that most golfers are hunting exercise and relaxation rather than entertainment. . . . Come to think of it, we've frequently heard "health" mentioned at the 19th hole—accompanied by a bending motion of the elbow that must provide a certain amount of exercise. . . . Gas rationing, too, is a reason why 88 fewer teams entered the Iowa-state high school boys' basketball tournament this year, cutting the total to only 835. . . . Sports Editor H. Guy Moats of the Pontiac (Mich.) Daily Press claims the record for picking the bowl football games correctly. He not only called Georgia, Texas, Alabama, Tennessee, Second Air Force and the Eastern All Stars to win but even picked Texas college over Tuskegee.

STOPPED IN ONE

When the Maryland university and Coast Guard academy boxing teams clashed the other night, the coaches picked Eddie La Fond, whose Catholic university team meets both later in the season, as the referee. . . . They figured it was a smart move because (a) Eddie is a good referee, who also works in pro fights, and (b) he wouldn't be able to do much scouting because he couldn't take notes while working.

POSTMAN'S PARAGRAPH

Whitely Budrumas of Waukegan, Illinois, former Marquette university basketball player and player-coach in Lithuania in 1938-39, passes along a few observations about basketball as an international game. . . . After the Berlin Olympics, he says, the sport spread like wildfire in the Baltic states and that Europeans were greatly impressed by American ways of coaching and the sportsmanship of American players. . . . "I'd like to see someone champion the position of sports in the coming reorganization of Europe after this war," Whitely writes. "Basketball, with American-born boys teaching in their fathers' native countries would do wonders spreading our conception of sportsmanship."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

The Jacksonville, Florida, Naval Air Station has cancelled its basketball schedule because Capt. John Dale Price, station commandant, decided it wasn't a good idea to use government transportation for games during the gas and rubber shortage. An intra-mural program will be substituted. . . . The "Tank Busters" of the 628th Tank Destroyer outfit, winners of the Camp Livingston, Louisiana, boxing tournament last year, are warming up for the Golden Gloves eliminations at Camp Bowie, Texas. . . . Navy Lieut. Glenn Killinger, whose North Carolina Pre-Flight baseball team did a good job last summer, has been transferred to the north Atlantic admiral's staff as athletic director. . . . Preparing to go on leave from his Jacksonville post this week, First Class Specialist Georgia Abrams, the middleweight fighter, bought only one ticket to Chicago but two for the return trip.

MANY ATHLETES AWAIT INDOOR TRACK SEASON

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Jan. 12 (AP)—The way Dan Ferris looks at it, there'll have to be a major upheaval in the manpower situation to keep the coming indoor track season from being successful.

Dan is the little, round ex-athlete whose official title is secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union but who also serves as a one-man office of information on all sports coming under A.A.U. jurisdiction. His specialty is track and field, so when he says there are plenty of athletes around for the winter meets, you know it's so.

But Ferris can go a little farther at clarifying the situation.

Many Stars Ready

"You can't expect to have them all in one meet," he explains, "but the colleges, the clubs and service men can make up some fine fields. The boys in service don't always know where they'll be or when they can get leave, but they want to compete when they can."

"For instance, Don Boydston, the old Oklahoma high jumper, called me from Quantico, Virginia, the other day. He's in the Marines there. He had read about the metropolitan championships and wanted to know if he was eligible. He was quite disappointed when I said he wasn't because he wanted to compete once before going on active duty. I pointed out that the Millrose A.A. Meet opens the major indoor season February 6 but he said by that time he might be in the Solomons."

On the other hand, Fred Schmerz, the Millrose-Meet chairman, has a list of prospects for the 600-yard feature that includes Roy Cochran, who is at Notre Dame learning to be a Navy officer; Charley Beetham, also in the Navy; Russ Sweet, Hugh Short, John Campbell and Jimmy Herbert. "And that isn't all," Ferris added. "There's Fred Sickinger at Manhattan and Boston college has a good prospect in Robert McKenly, a boy from the British West Indies who Jack Ryder converted from a sprinter, and a lot of others."

Famous Milers

"For the mile there's Gilbert Dodds and I understand Gene Venkze is going to try a comeback. Then you have Walter Mehl, Frank Dixon, of N.Y.U., Earl Mitchell of Indiana, Don Burnham of Dartmouth, Roy Schwarzkopf of Yale, Jim Rafferty, Bill Hulse and Tom Quinn. Quinn is the former Michigan normal boy who also is at Notre Dame studying to be a Navy officer and I understand he's expecting to have his best season."

Since most of the big indoor meets are in the east and the greatest concentration of athletes is in the same section, Ferris doesn't look for much difficulty because of transportation. Cornelius Warmerdam, the California school-teacher who established a new pole-vault ceiling last winter, may be affected. Winner of the Sullivan award and the only vaulter to top 15 feet, Warmerdam is one of the best gate attractions in track and field.

"He could only come east twice last winter, you remember," Dan pointed out, "and once his plane was grounded and he lost four days from school. I understand that didn't go any too well with his principal. Of course, we want him for the national championships February 27 and so do a lot of others. He wants to come east, but there's a shortage of teachers as well as transportation so I don't know."

LOOKING AROUND

By DON BREAN Sports Editor

In defeating Waynesboro 42-9 last Friday the Gettysburg high school cagers held the Tornado to the lowest score on its home field in the history of basketball. Dutch Dorfman, York, who was originally scheduled to assist in the refereeing, notified Waynesboro authorities he couldn't get permission from the Ration Board to referee and he was replaced by Boots Meagher, Waynesboro "Y" physical director.

The third edition of the Ice-Capades of 1943 will be presented in the Hershey Sports Arena for nine performances beginning Thursday, February 4, through Saturday, February 13, excepting Sunday, February 7.

Among the stars scheduled to perform are Donna Atwood, junior national champion; Bobby Specht, 1942 figure skating champion; Vera Hrubka, champion Czechoslovakian skater; Lois Dworshak, known for her rippling rhythm; Trixie, the girl wonder juggler; and Joe Jackson, Jr., the funny comedian with the fallapart bicycle.

Robert Noll, athletic director at Biglerville high school, announced today that Lemoyne high school had requested a postponement of its scheduled games at Biglerville tonight until transportation problems

Ball Players In Air Force Credit To Birdie Tebbetts

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF AP Features

Waco, Tex. — Approximately enough they're called "Birdie's Boys"—this gang of guys who gave up brief baseball careers to fight for greater glory.

They are light in the lift of Sergeant George R. Tebbetts. Sergeant Tebbetts, you know, is the same Birdie Tebbetts who earned diamond fame with the Detroit Tigers.

The group is made up of Tebbetts' kind, ball players who came to the Waco Army Flying School where Birdie began his military life toward the closing days of the 1942 season.

Bruce Campbell, Buster Mills, Sid Hudson, Hoot Evers, Herb Nordquist, Mike Mandjack, Lou Batterson, Nick and Mike Popo-vich to name some of those to whom professional baseball is no stranger.

They all came in as privates, eager to work and earn any rating possible.

Got Them In Army

The reason they're called "Birdie's Boys" is that directly or indirectly they all are in the army air force through Tebbetts' efforts. Soon after being stationed here in August, Tebbetts was assigned to recruiting.

They sent Birdie to Detroit—his old stamping ground—and it proved a wise move. Those who were anxious to join up went to Tebbetts; Birdie went to those whom he felt had something the armed force could use.

The story is that one night Birdie dropped in to pay a social call on a young lady he knew casually and before the evening was over had talked four of her brothers into enlisting.

When they called Birdie back to Waco he immediately took stock of his boys who had landed there and found he hadn't done badly so far as baseball talent was concerned. Naturally, talk immediately arose concerning a team when spring rolls around. And if this talent remains together, the Waco Army Flying School will take a back seat to no one in service diamond circles.

At Officers' School

The only hitch is that Birdie may not be around to enjoy the fruits of his labor. Right now he's at the Army Air Force Officer Candidate School in Miami Beach earning his lieutenant's bars through a course in physical training. Sure, he wants to come back but it's not certain that he will.

If and when he returns, he'll have reason to be pleased with his early efforts, because almost without exception his boys are doing excellent jobs of fitting themselves into the army scheme and carrying out the duties to which they have been assigned.

Most of them are taking part in the post's giant physical training program and handling several hour-long classes a day also is serving to keep them in the peak condition they usually lose over the long winter months.

337, he collected 15 home runs to lead the National league. They had a dead ball in those days.

Collins switched to the newly formed American league in 1901 as manager of the Red Sox and in 1903 ran away with the pennant. The Red Sox were so great that fans wanted to see them matched against the mighty Pittsburgh Pirates who had dominated the National league three straight years.

The result was the first World Series and Collins' Red Sox won it after losing three of the first four games.

After ending his baseball career at Providence in the Eastern league in 1911 Collins settled down in Buffalo and now is employed by the City's park commission.

The case made out for Collins is a good one. Most of the younger writers, like this one, rate Harold (Pie) Traynor of the Pirates as the greatest third baseman they ever saw. Traynor was a star for 16 years and finished in 1936 with a lifetime batting average of .319.

May Pick Two

Elections for the Hall of Fame are held irregularly; there have been five since the idea was started in 1936. To be elected a player must have completed his active career and must poll 75 per cent of the total votes cast. The last man elected was Rogers Hornsby in the spring of 1942.

Perhaps when another election is suggested by the baseball writers they will fill the third base vacancy—maybe with two men.

Dumont Predicts Sandlot Baseball Success In 1943

By JOE DeGEORGE AP Features

Wichita, Kas.—Circus stunts and novel gadgets, once the aces in Ray Dumont's pack of tricks to keep the turnstiles clicking, have no part in the 1943 plans of the national semi-pro baseball congress president.

It's not that the war has shaken his confidence in the lot of the sandlotter—far from it. It's just that he believes a serious attitude is more in keeping with the time.

"People during war times are serious minded," says the man who in years past has banked to a great extent on such devices as a pneumatic home plate duster, and a jack-in-the-box microphone for the home plate umpire to attract the fans.

"Take the Brooklyn Dodgers, for example. Two years ago baseball fans were amused over their daffy tactics. The Dodgers were heroes. Last season, after the war broke out, their daffiness just didn't click, even though they did lead the National league much of the season."

Lay Plans

Dumont has laid the groundwork for what he calls a well rounded program for the coming season. Confidently, he tells you that the semi-pros should force ahead to a more prominent place in baseball because of the war.

"The baseball clubs, the players and the fans may not be the same as they were in former years, but you can mark it down that there'll be more sandlot teams than at any time in the past decade," Dumont asserts.

Sees More Teams

Industrial teams will increase 50 per cent, he predicts, because "the 2,000 to 2,500 professional players, who have gone into war plants in the past two years, will be unable to return to organized baseball next year with fewer minor league clubs operating."

Dumont holds to the view that town baseball is far from through. "Gasoline rationing will keep most of the home folks from traveling next summer," he reasons. "They'll want something in their home town to interest them. A baseball team will be the solution."

But what about equipment, Mr. Dumont?

"On a recent trip, I contacted athletic goods manufacturers and was informed that there would be no shortage of baseballs, although teams will be required to use 20 per cent more due to the fact that first grade baseballs will contain no more than 70 per cent wool yarns, instead of 100 per cent as in former years."

"It also was told that the government recently purchased 120,000 official baseballs for the army camps."

In brief, Dumont's plans for 1943 include: Distribution in January of 100,000 national semi-pro guides, "edited to create a desire to organize baseball clubs," to army camps and industrial plants.

Players To Register

Nationwide registration March 29 of all males 15 years of age or older who want to play baseball, the registration to be made at any of the country's 8,000 sporting goods stores.

Opening of the season on May 2—"national semi-pro baseball day."

District qualifying tournaments scheduled for June 20 to July 6.

Forty-eight state tournaments slated for July 7 to Aug. 5 to qualify champions for the ninth annual national tourney in Wichita Aug. 12 to 26.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 12 (AP)—A plan to run Miami's two horse race tracks on a cooperative basis fell through when officials of Hialeah and Tropical parks frowned on the proposal.

The idea, advanced yesterday by Allen T. Simmons of Akron, O., was to offer purses varying according to the betting volume, with horsemen donating their services in operating the plants.

Track officials pointed out that Florida's horse racing season did not collapse for lack of money, but because of the ban on pleasure driving. Therefore the proposal offered no solution to the problem, they said.

Chicago, Jan. 12 (AP)—Will Harbridge, president of the American league, said today he planned to meet with Ford Frick, president of the National league, in New York early next week to complete work on the new 1943 baseball schedules.

"Certain portions must be fitted because of cities having a team in each league," he said. "The April 21 starting date and the Oct. 3 closing time made it necessary to work up an almost new draft. The schedules will be sent to the individual clubs for insertion of night games and doubleheaders before they are released."

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 12 (AP)—The fans, at least, want baseball this year, concludes Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Fort Worth Cats.

Starting his box seat sales campaign for next season, he called on 15 prospects and sold 15 boxes. That's almost a fourth of the total sold in last season's three-months drive.

The Cats led the Texas league in attendance in 1942.

M'KEESPORT TO GET NEW COACH

McKeesport, Pa., Jan. 12 (AP)—Harold Weigle, coach for the past five years at Johnstown high school, last night was chosen head football coach and athletic director at McKeesport high school.

Weigle will succeed John D. (Jack) Tinson, who resigned last month. He is expected to resign at Johnstown shortly to take over the new job, which will pay $2,400 a year for teaching and $1,400 for his athletic work.

James J. Henderson, Jr., chairman of the school board's athletic committee, said McKeesport expects to expand its athletic policy and a successful drive would necessitate a coach of proven ability.

The Johnstown coach guided two of his teams into WPIAL Class AA playoffs. In 1941 Johnstown won the title by beating Mt. Lebanon 7-0 in a playoff. In 1938 it lost 38 to 20 to McKeesport. In five years at Johnstown, Weigle's football teams won 40, lost 11 and tied one.

Weigle played football at Windber high in 1928 and was a letter man at Albright college. He coached Tamaqua and Windber before going to Johnstown.

VOLUNTARY RETIREMENT

Pittsburgh, Jan. 12 (AP)—Shortstop Alf Anderson yesterday asked the Pittsburgh Pirates to put him on their voluntarily retired list. He is working in a defense plant at Savannah, Ga. President William E. Benswanger of the Pirates has tentatively approved the request, subject to final ratification by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

Why Be Troubled By Wartime Constipation?

Avoid one of the common causes—lack of "bulk!"

No wonder so many folks feel "all done in" these war days! It's the way we live—longer hours, harder work, irregular eating habits. And in this hurry-burry, meals are apt to be rushed, improperly balanced—and the important matter of "bulk" overlooked.

What a difference getting enough "bulk" might make! For lack of it is one of the common causes of constipation. In such cases, medicinal laxatives are only "makeshift" remedies; they don't correct the cause! But eating KILLCO's ALL-BRAN regularly and drinking plenty of water can prevent or overcome this trouble. For this delicious cereal supplies the necessary "bulk." Start eating ALL-BRAN today. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

THE BETTER WORLD

And how to build a better world?

Well, not by chart or plan

Unless we start to teach the boy to be a better man.

For all our dreams of nobler things

Will meet the same old fate

Unless we turn to fellowship and do away with hate.

The time to build a better world?

Ah, some of it has gone!

'Twas yesterday, the day before, and now as war goes on!

For after victory is won 'twill surely be too late

If hearts and minds still keep alive the bitterness of hate.

And where to build the better world?

Within the human heart!

If we would change the ways of men 'tis there mankind must start.

For men must build the better world from all that's cruel free

And work for it and train for it before that world can be.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

HAWAII—BICEPS OF THE PACIFIC!

Those golden days, but a few short months before "Pearl Harbor," that I spent in Hawaii will remain forever treasured among the choicest memories in my heart. As I write this talk though I am thinking of another Hawaii—an Hawaii reborn, awakened, strong—and with the tradition of nearly two centuries of courage behind her.

God stepped in on that December 7th day in 1941—and demonstrated again that you can only wound a people like those of Hawaii. They cannot be conquered! They are Americans. Like their kindly, yet hardy and brave forebears, the native Hawaiians, they live to conquer.

Spotted out there in the big Pacific, like a string of Elysian Edens, each island a pearl by itself. Destiny has somehow selected them to play a part in world history, such as has never been recorded before. Certainly right now Hawaii may rightly be called—the Biceps of the Pacific!

Her pioneer founders, her builders, her warriors, her cultivators of the soil, her sturdy mariners, her fishermen, her law makers—these, and hordes of others, combined as one to build a mighty and useful community—now an integral part of the free United States of America.

But without the enterprise and ingenuity, as well as the courage and initiative of men of vision, with ships to establish commerce, there would not have been the Hawaii of today. Those men looked ahead. They knew that some day this small exotic span of islands would be essential to the defense of the mainland—and perhaps to the freedom of the world!

Thus it was that years ago ships and more ships were built, and great cargoes of needed food and materials touched the beautiful harbor of Honolulu—"the Crossroads of the Pacific." Aloha—Welcome, and Goodbye—in lingering strains, melted in billions of people's hearts.

For years great, beautiful ships have piled the waters to and from the peaceful port of Honolulu, building good will yet awaiting any call to duty. Forty-five cargo ships of the Matson Line alone—the largest single unit of the American merchant marine, plus their four mighty ocean liners, now become powerful as aids to these Biceps of the Pacific. They are passing both men and "the ammunition"—to keep America and the world free.

Hawaii will live forever—for amongst its flowered gardens, its pineapple acres, its sugar fields, and underneath its canopy of perpetual rainbows, brave men sleep—in ground that will be eternally hal- lowed.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "That Mother's Kiss"

How To Raise More Taxes Is Baffling Congress

SALES TAX IS SUGGESTED AS A POSSIBILITY

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY

Washington, Jan. 12 (AP)—One baffling question—how to raise an additional $16,000,000,000 this year for war purposes?—overshadowed all else on Capitol Hill today. Some prominent legislators mentioned a

Federal retail sales tax, combined with increased compulsory loans, as a possible answer.

Other developments in Congress:

1. The Senate Foreign Relations committee may call on Mayor La

Guardia of New York for the background of a grand jury investigation into charges, later dropped, that

New York city materials and labor were used to pave the courtyard of Edward J. Flynn's estate if the committee decides to hold hearings on

Flynn's nomination to be minister to Australia. Nomination of the retiring Democratic National committee chairman aroused a storm of Republican protest.

2. Agitation for an increase in price ceilings on potatoes, beans and dairy products will confront Leon

Henderson's successor as Price Administrator. President Roosevelt's nomination of former Senator Prentiss M. Brown of Michigan for the job is expected to receive speedy

Senate confirmation.

3. A special House committee on airplane accidents predicted in its final report that the peacetime future of aviation will be limitless, and urged appointment of standing committees to study its development.

4. A special Senate committee, informed that the petroleum outlook is

CATTLE—Today's cattle receipts were somewhat reduced over last week's initial period. The market was slow and fully steady prices were obtained for all classes.

A couple of odd sales were made to outside interests at unevenly higher rates, but these cast no reflection on the general market.

The early top was $16 paid for a small lot of 500-pound baby heifers that would place in the good-to-choice category.

A load of good-to-choice 1,200-pound steers moved at $15.80 and a few steady grades moved from $15 to $15.25. The bulk of the steer sales that created a real test of the market were noted from $14.10 to $14.55, these being in the good grade. Medium arrivals cleared from $13.25 to $13.50 and common lots turned from $12.75 downward.

Heifers were very scarce and practically no good grades were available on early rounds. Common to medium heifers sold within the price range from $10.50-12.

The cow receipts were very light and all grades moved freely. Canners and cutters moved scaleward from $7 to $9 and common to medium grades followed from $9.50 to $10.50.

Bulls were scarce in Monday's receipts. Common and medium sausage bulls found clearance from $10 to $12. Good grades turned from $12.25 to $13.25 and occasionally a weighty beef type sold as high as $15.50.

There were practically no stockers and feeders available in today's trading. A few lots of common arrivals found outlets from $10.50 to $12.

CALVES—Vendors and calves maintained their steady levels in an active trading session. Choice yearlings cleared at $17, making the practical top. Medium and good grades moved from $15 to $16.50 and cull and common offerings cleared from $9 to $13. The above prices are based on grain-fed hogs. Occasionally price premiums are paid for through billed rail consignments that are purchased for shipment but such transactions are not listed in the above quotations.

SHEEP—Fat lambs held an even keel through today's trading period, the practical top and popular price holding at $17. Good and choice lambs turned from $15.50 to $17, while common to medium grades sold within the price spread of $10 to $15.50. Slaughter ewes were also steady

Club Members Get Taste Of Drafting

New Cumberland, Pa., Jan. 12 (AP)—Thirty-six members of the Charter club, most of them over draft age, learned what it means when new Army inductees "get the works" at the New Cumberland reception center.

Guests of the center commander, Lieut. Col. William A. Pulmer, the club got everything but the "shots" for typhoid and tetanus. They were "received, quizzed, measured and fitted" before their visit was over.

BERSERK GUARD SHOTS MAN IN WILD ESCAPE

Franklin, Pa., Jan. 12 (AP)—A 25-year-old guard at the Keystone Ordnance plant, suddenly going berserk, stole four passenger automobiles and two trucks and shot a man in the back during a wild 25-mile ride that ended with his quiet surrender to Grove City police yesterday. District Attorney Daniel J. Skelly reported.

Skelly, who called the escape "one of the wildest one-man out-breaks" in this vicinity in years, said the man, a resident of Franklin R. 1, would be given a mental test. He reported the prisoner suffered a skull fracture in an auto accident about two years ago.

The district attorney told the story as follows:

First Theft

The prisoner, after engaging in some target practice with his pistol at his home, went to a gasoline station operated by Mrs. Clara J. Skelins and took her auto, heading for Polk.

A little farther on the car crashed into a furniture truck driven by Boyd M. Park of Franklin. The man commandeered the truck and drove on. In the business center of Polk the truck sideswiped a car operated by Lester Polk, Sharon, but did not stop.

Cutting off the Polk-Sandy Lake road onto a smaller one, the man stopped alongside Emmet Fry, 25, of Polk R. 2, who was on foot, and asked:

"Where can I steal a good car?"

Victim Critical

Fry told police later he laughed, thinking it was a joke. The man, drawing a gun, said he was "serious and meant business." Fry ran and was shot in the back. Removed to Franklin hospital, he was reported in critical condition, the bullet lodging in a lung.

The man drove on to Hendersonville. Brandishing his gun, he forced four women out of a car driven by Mrs. Carl C. Wheeler of Stoneboro R. 2, and took it, abandoning the truck. A short distance on, this car ran into a ditch. The prisoner took the car of a man who offered to help, continued a quarter of a mile, and ditched this car in turn. Similarly, and in sequence, he took a truck and car of men who tried to help him out of ditches.

State motor police, hot on the trail of the stranded cars, warned police of surrounding communities, and when the man drove into Grove City, police were waiting for him.

Chapter 22

Visitors

Something—Mary could never remember just what it was prompted her to turn back to the piano, snatch up a sheet of that strangely written, strangely numbered music, stuff it quickly into her purse. Then she sat down demurely with one of the rare editions of Dante's "Divine Comedy," pretended to be so absorbed in the illustrations that she didn't realize Senorita de la Vega had entered.

"Buenos dias," her hostess said. And then something more in rushing Spanish.

Mary rose, smiled, marvelling that she could keep her expression quite bland when her heart was thumping wildly.

"How do you do, 1—?" Then of course she realized her predicament. She must not let Carmencita suspect she'd heard that tirade of a moment ago. She must also get Dad's message over quickly.

But of course—the maid!

Glancing past Carmencita, Mary smiled sweetly at the dour-faced woman. "I'm terribly sorry. But you see I speak no Spanish and since Miss de la Vega doesn't understand my English, I wonder if you would act as interpreter?"

For a brief breathless moment, Mary waited to see if they were going to accept her pretense of not having overheard.

Mary gave the message quickly, urgently. Heard the woman say "Senor Dan Sherman" and saw Carmencita's smile vanish replaced by alarm.

When the maid had finished, Carmencita turned immediately to Mary, saying, "Si si Senorita, Go! Quick!"

Mary drove steadily, her eyes on the road ahead, her thoughts worrying her new discovery. She would talk to Dad about it the first chance she had.

Tear blinded, Mary paced the long corridor until she was physically tired, until the last shred of emotion was under control.

When her father came from the sickroom after a last visit for the night, she was waiting in the car.

"How is he, Daddy?" she asked immediately.

"Better—He'll pull through, I think," Dr. Paul rubbed his forehead, sighed wearily.

"Oh, I'm so glad. Is she still with him?"

"The Spanish girl?" Dr. Paul shook his head. "No, I sent her home after Sherman fell asleep. He's perfectly quiet now."

"Daddy, that woman is an imposter. Mary blurted then.

"So? What makes you think that?"

She sketched the events of the afternoon rapidly, pulled the sheet of music out of her bag.

Unconvinced

But Dr. Paul only smiled at her tenderly. "Look here, Puss. You aren't letting jealousy upset your balance wheel, are you?"

"No, Dad. Certainly not."

He took the sheet finally, examining it with the aid of the light in the dashboard. "Hm. Does look funny. Still—probably nothing to it. Numbers probably refer to notes in the chord. I wouldn't be alarmed."

Silently, Mary folded the music, stuck it back in her bag. Dad was probably right. The green-eyed monster trying to give her a more logical reason for hating Carmencita than just that Dan Sherman loved her!

Then, as her thoughts ran persistently, tormentingly back over the afternoon's events, Mary recalled something she'd overlooked. Carmencita, in her perfectly unaccented English, had said, "What the hell is the matter with the phone? You knew damned well that wasn't to be out of order until tonight!"

Telephones "out of order" on purpose! What sort of business was that!

She didn't have time to consider what she would do now to prove Dad wrong. But something—she'd think of some way.

Her father let her out at the front door while he drove on to the garage. So Mary faced the trio in the living room alone.

Her mother—and Mrs. Lloyd and Porter. Surprised, of course, and aware of a definite feeling of dismay, Mary managed a greeting.

Porter was beside her instantly. "Hello, darling. How are you?"

"Fine. And you?"

"She's looking perfectly stunning

Stricken Rescue Worker Removed From W. Va. Mine

Mine workers carry the first of three rescue workers from the Pursglove No. 15 mine at Morgantown, W. Va., after they were overcome while trying to reach 13 miners trapped by a sudden fire.

1600 MINERS
BACK TO WORK;
17,500 STRIKE

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 12 (AP)—Another 1,600 miners joined a back-to-work movement in the strike-bound Pennsylvania anthracite fields today but an estimated 17,500, still stayed away from their jobs, disregarding new pleas from industry's governing body and the War Labor Board.

Local 1376 of the United Mine Workers voted to reopen two collieries of the Lehigh Valley Coal company at Hazleton, Pa., after 5,000 had returned to work in other collieries yesterday. Both groups agreed to peaceful negotiation of their protests against a 50-cents a month increase in union dues and their demands for a $2 a day wage bonus.

With the unauthorized walkout in its 14th day and hard coal supplies dwindling throughout the northeast, strikers studied a second back-to-work plea from the governing committee of twelve, made up of six UMW leaders and six operators.

War Is Paramount
Regardless of differences the keeping of agreements and the support of the war effort are paramount," the committee said in telegrams to the striking local unions.

The stoppages violate "the obligation to the government not to strike for the duration of the war," the telegrams added.

A similar plea from the committee Friday brought no immediate results.

A copy of the new message was sent to Solid Fuels Coordinator Ickes, who had called the walkout "intolerable" and criticized the committee for not taking active steps to arrange a settlement.

"The committee... is doing everything in its power to bring about complete restoration of anthracite coal production," the group told Ickes.

GAS SALES DROPS

Harrisburg, Jan. 12 (AP)—Col. Lynn G. Adams, Pennsylvania police commissioner, today said gasoline sales along the open road in Pennsylvania have been cut 60 per cent by the OPA ban on pleasure driving.

Farm Groups Open Three Day
Session To Discuss Problems
Arising From War Emergencies

Harrisburg, Jan. 12 (AP)—Specialists in every branch of farming gathered here today from all sections of Pennsylvania for discussions of problems arising in the Food for Victory program.

The farmers and their wives were here for the three-day farm meetings which opened today in place of the annual Farm Show—a war casualty—which in former years attracted hundreds of thousands of visitors.

"The ways and means of fuller activity in meeting war needs" was the way one highly-placed agricultural official expressed the goal of the meetings with the problems of food production, farm machinery conservation and farm manpower high on the list of things up for discussion.

Women in Session
Gathering in many separate halls and auditoriums since the huge Farm Show building was no longer available, beekeepers, Guernsey breeders, Jersey cattlemen, potato growers, dairymen, poultrymen, vegetable growers and horticulturalists were among those in session during the day.

The Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women, composed of farmers' wives, and the Future Farmers also planned sessions.

Present War Cost
Tops All Others

Washington, Jan. 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt's $100,000,000,000 budget brought the estimated cost to America of World War II to $196,000,000,000 from Pearl Harbor to June 30, 1944.

Here are some comparisons of past American costs:
Revolutionary war $150,000,000.
War of 1812 $133,700,000.
Mexican war $166,000,000.
Civil war (North only) $15,097,082,784.
Spanish-American war $1,921,504,307.
World War I $147,765,000,000.
Total previous wars $59,233,287,091.
Total of all federal spending, including wars from 1789 to Pearl Harbor $197,180,000,000.
